NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Manchester May Have Chain Gang in the Near Future.

BANQUET BY THE MASONS

Eagle Band to Give Bazaar-Revival Meetings to Be Held.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hull Street.

The Manchester City Assembly mot last night and discussed some important matters. Mr. A. J. Daffron, of the Second Ward, offered his resignation to the body, as he expects soon to move to the Fourth Ward. His resignation was tabled until the next meeting, when it will be acted upon.

In the meeting of the Street Committee the cow ordinance was again brought up by Mr. Daffron, who moved that, as the time is growing short, a notice of the time is growing short, a notice of is be posted ten days before the election, and not twenty days as is the usual custom. A very important matter was then brought to the attention of the committee by Mr. H. A. Lindsay, who offered a resolution to establish a chain-gang in Manchester, following the line of the custom now prevailing in Richmond. It is suggested that the proposed chain-gang be under the general supervision of the Street Committee, who shall put the matter directly in the charge of an overseer to be appointed by them. The work performed by the gang shall be in such streets and places as shall be designated by the committee, the prisoners shall be clothed at the expense of the city and their services shall be secured on an order from the city sergennt or his deputy. The matter at once took shape, and all the members were favorably impressed with the scheme. The resolutions was passed, and will be referred to the Ordinante Committee.

Mr. C. C. Jones offered a resolution suggesting that hereafter all meetings of the committee shall begin at eight o'clock. The resolution was carried.

In respect to the property of Mrs. Octavia Perks, between McDonough and Semmes Streets, on Cowardin Avenue which has been condemned by the city for the purpose of widening the street, it was decided to appoint Mr. W. T. Davidson assessor of damages for the city. Mrs. Perkins has chosen Mr. A. Royall to act for her. is be posted ten days before the

of their visitors and the grand lecturer. Mr. W. J. Hubard, who is now conducting a series of tectures on Masonry. After the business meeting, in which four candidates had conferred upon them the degree of Mark Master, the members filed into the banquet hall, ushered in by the strains of a selection from the Eagle Band. A tasteful feast was spread on the three tables, and the members sat down to enjoy themselves with Bacchus and Eros, the while sweet music was discoursed by the band.

Mr. Aaron Sampson, high priest, acted as toastmaster, and introduced the speakers of the evening. Representative Masons from Manchester, Swansboro, Petersburg, Richmond and Chester were called upon, lind all responded with short, well worded talks. Mr. Ben P. Owen, of Swansboro, was in a most happy strain, and made a most felicitous response, full of reminiscences of the early days of the chapter and of his own early days, when he was a newspaper man. His remarks delighted the audience, and he took his seat amid rounds of hplause.

At the close of the ovening's entertainment the Eagle Band played the familiar air, "Auld Lang Syns," touching responpresent.

Democrats Working.

Democrats Working,
Mr. Willis C. Pulliam, the Democratic nominee for the lower house, is not letting the grass grow under his feet, but is bending every effort in the interest of his campaign. Mr. Pulliam recently returned to Manchester after a three-days' stumping tour through the district, where he has been furthering the interest of his own nomination as well as the nominations of the other Democratic candidates. Thursday night Mr. Pulliam and Capitains Baker and Lamb spoke at Winfree's Store, in the Yellow Jacket District. The speakers were very much pleased with the reception accorded them by the residents of this district.

THIS IS CIRCUS DAY!

Wallace's Parade To-day-Circus Great, According to Reports .

The Great Wallace Show, which i extensively advertised to exhibit Richmond to-day seems to be unusually popular wherever it exhibits, It bears popular wherever it exhibits, it bears acquaintance, and its popularity is greater where it exhibits annually. The Great Wallace Circus combines splendor, gorgoous beauty and pageuntry. From early morning until the big parade passes, crowds of people walt on the corners and all along the streets, at various points of vantage, to see the wonders that are always presented by this show. None are disappointed, except those who can not see the great parade, those who can not desappointed, except those who can not see the great parade, for the Wallace people are in the habit of presenting their free parade just as they advertise. No shew that ever comes here, gives as much free entertainment as this. Many dens of fine wild animals here gives as much free entertainment as this. Many dens of the wild animals are open for public inspection, and they disclose a collection of well-fed, sleek and contended beasts of the field and jungle. Hyenas, Hons, tigers, leopards, bears, zebras, snakes, and, above all, a great, lazy hippopotamus (the biggest in capitally), are disclosed to the eyes of the wondering multitude, and the display of horsefiesh is a feast to the lovers of man's most useful animal.

Horsemen in gittering armor ride beside the ladies, and jockeys, in all the colors of the rainbow, gracefully ride along, while representatives of the that-lators of Rome drive their steeds to the time set by bands of music. Stirring noies ring out from many bands.

There are troupes of real Japs, in real Japanese outfits, and a gaudy party of dancing girls from the Orient. Female jockeys and girls from the Orient female a kaleldoscopic picture that will remain with those who see it a long time.

It is claimed by the press agent that the street display of the Wallace Show will outdo all previous parades ever seen here, which is saying much.

About 10:30 e'clock this morning, the immense parade will traverse the principal streets of Richmond.

The court was concerned all day with the consideration of the case of C. D. Wood against C. H. Gilbert, wherein the plaintiff claims $10,000 for defamation of character. In his declaration the plaintiff sets forth that on cortain occasions the defendant, who is the proprietor of a hotel at the corner of Eighth and Franklin Streets, poured a whole volley of ugly words at him. One of the definite charges in the declaration is that the plaintiff was charged with theft, and that in the absence of any possible evidence, circumstantial or otherwise, to sustain the assertion, great damage has accrued. At the time for the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon but little over half of the testimony had been put in. The case may be concluded to-day. R. E. Scott and J.
